

We are working with a group of 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students on a project from the Philly Zoo – It is called Unless (it is to raise awareness for orangutans and their habitat loss) – the project they have created is completely multimedia – they have created a website as well as a twitter account. If you have time please check it out! They have done an incredible job!

We need as many followers as we can get for the final part of the project.

We meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays right after school.
